Part 2 Pronunciation and Intonation

• 清辅音 /k/ •

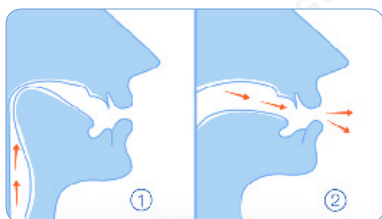

原文例词

book /bʊk/

thank /θæŋk/

发音解析

• 清辅音 /k/ •

发 /k/ 的时候，双唇微开，舌后部抬起贴住上腭，阻塞气流，然后舌后部迅速降低，使气流冲出口腔，不振动声带。/k/ 音与汉语的汉语拼音的“k”音相似，但是注意当 /k/ 音出现在单词词尾时，不要在后面加元音 /ə/ 音

Part 4 Paraphrase

- I have to say my classmates are typical British gentlemen and ladies. For example, Jack, if he wants to borrow a book from Jane, he will say, 'Give me a book please, Jane.' And Jane won't throw him an alternative question because it's rude. She will ask him, 'Which book? This one?' What if there are 100 books on her desk?! Then, Jack will say, 'No, not that one. The red one.' Jane will show him the red one and still use the sentence, 'This one?' And Jack will answer with the sentence, 'Yes, please.' In the end, they will finish the conversation politely, 'Here you are.' 'Thank you.'
